

NO BLAME PUT ON DRIVER FOR BUPP'S DEATH

A coroner's jury Friday afternoon failed to find any proof of negligence on the part of the driver involved in the traffic death last Saturday evening of John H. Bupp, 79, Gettysburg R. 2.

The verdict followed an inquest into Bupp's death conducted by Dr. C. G. Crist, Adams County coroner, in the court house.

Harold Wertz, 44, Fairfield, driver of the car which struck Mr. Bupp near the latter's home a quarter mile west of Gettysburg on the Fairfield Rd., was among the witnesses who testified at the inquest.

Testified Voluntarily

Taking the stand voluntarily after being warned by the coroner that anything he said could be used against him in court, Wertz estimated his speed at 35 to 40 miles an hour at the time of the accident and said he did not see Mr. Bupp until after the man had been struck. "I don't know where he came from," he declared.

Both Wertz and his brother, Charles, who was with him the day of the accident and preceded the driven on the witness stand, admitted to having had two double shots of whiskey during Saturday afternoon at the Eagles' home here but both asserted the drinks did not affect Harold's fitness to drive.

A total of nine witnesses took the stand and although their testimony differed in a number of details they agreed that the road was dry, the night dark and Wertz's speed about 35 to 40 miles an hour at the time of the collision. No one was found who had seen the collision or had noticed Mr. Bupp on the road before he was struck.

Officer Testifies

Private George J. Evanko who made the state police investigation of the fatality said he could not find any evidence to show which way Mr. Bupp was walking at the time he was hit. It was known he had been to town during the afternoon. He died of a compound fracture of the skull, a broken neck and a compound fracture of the left leg below the knee.

MRS. WEIKERT, 94, FAIRFIELD, PASSES AWAY

Fairfield's eldest resident, Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Weikert, 94, widow of Mahlon Weikert, who passed away August 21, 1947, at the age of 94, died this morning at 8 o'clock at the home of her daughter after being bedfast 13½ years from the effects of a stroke. Dr. C. G. Crist, Adams County coroner, said death was due to natural causes.

Mrs. Weikert was born near Fairfield, November 1, 1859, and was a daughter of Peter and Elizabeth (Musselman) Musselman, Fairfield.

She was a member of the Zion Lutheran Church, Fairfield, for 75 years.

The last of her immediate family Mrs. Weikert had lived all of her life in Adams County and was a resident of Fairfield since November 1, 1912—after retiring from a farm outside of that community.

SCHOOL LAND IS EXCHANGED

The Gettysburg School Authority today became the legal possessor of the 23-acre plot of ground east of the high school, to East Confederate Ave. and the U. S. Government became the owner of the Luther and Nora Sachs property east of Wainwright Ave. and south of the Gettysburg High School.

Deeds recording the transfers were filed this morning with the county register and recorder, transferring the federal land to the school authority and the Sachs land, listed as owned by Mr. and Mrs. Sachs and the school authority, to the government.

The deeds complete some months of work that have gone into the transaction since Congress passed an act permitting the transfer of the federal land to the school board in exchange for land of equal value.

The matter was complicated because the school board could only purchase land which is needed for schools, and thus had to legally buy the federal land. At the same time the government could not sell the land sought by the school board, but could only transfer it for other land.

By working the transfer through the School Authority and making both transactions simultaneous, the various legal requirements were met.

Milwaukee Doctor Will Attend Lincoln Program Here Thursday

Dr. and Mrs. Arthur C. Hansen, of Milwaukee, Wis., will probably travel the farthest to attend the observance of Lincoln's Gettysburg Address here next Thursday.

"I plan on being present at the meeting of the Lincoln Fellowship of Pennsylvania. Mrs. Hansen will accompany me.

"Both of us are looking forward to this trip. I was in Gettysburg on the 85th anniversary of Lincoln's address. That, too, was a memorable occasion. I enjoy Gettysburg much more when the regular tourist season is over.

"Your invitation came at an opportune time. I had been contemplating a visit to our new plant at Lancaster.

"I will be glad to see you and visit the Lincoln Room again."

The program includes S—self understanding; H—health education; A—a family physician for every family; P—participation in community and voluntary health programs; and E—every doctor's wife an Auxiliary member.

$1,805 DAMAGE IN 6-CAR CRASH ON YORK STREET

Thurman G. French, 35, Delta R. 1, attempted to pass another vehicle as he entered Gettysburg on York St. Friday afternoon and wound up in a six-car accident, causing $1,805 damage, according to borough police.

As police reconstructed the crash, Ira R. Linebaugh, 21, Fairfield R. 1, was headed east on York St., near the borough line, planning to turn in at the west driveway to Gilbert's Service Station.

Linebaugh saw two cars headed west, approaching the borough from the York pike and pulled back into his own lane, continuing to drive east, deciding he would go into the east entrance to the service station after the two approaching vehicles had passed.

At that moment French, according to police, who was in the second of the two cars entering the borough, decided to pass the vehicle ahead of him.

Entered Used Car Lot

French's car struck Linebaugh, by now halted on the highway, causing $200 damage to Linebaugh's vehicle. French's car then swerved south, crossed the highway and entered the Gettysburg Motors Co. used car lot.

It first, according to police, "bounced off" the front end of a 1949 car, causing $20 damage. Then it struck a 1948 vehicle, "caving in the right front" and causing $490 damage to that car; it then struck the front end of a 1950 sedan, apparently hitting it even harder than the two previous cars in the lot, even to bending the frame on the vehicle and causing $600 damage to it.

When French's car hit the 1950 sedan, it threw that vehicle into the (Continued On Page 5)

Agree On Agenda For Talks To Arrange Peace Sessions

By SAM SUMMERLIN

PANMUNJOM (平壤) Allied and Communist diplomats today pumped new life into dwindling hopes for a Korean peace settlement with agreement on an agenda for preliminary talks to arrange a political conference.

Top-level negotiators reconvened after a week-long recess and approved an agenda drafted by staff advisers in six secret sessions.

The agreement provides for simultaneous discussion of a time and place for the peace conference and of nations which will attend. Communist insistence on deciding the composition first had deadlocked the preliminary talks for three weeks.

Approval of the agenda will get the stalled preliminary talks under way but U. S. envoy Arthur Dean told newsmen: "This is just the key that opens the door. The real hard work is just commencing."

Meanwhile non-Communist members of the Korean Repatriation Commission were increasingly pessimistic over the future of Red interviews with Chinese and Korean War prisoners who have refused to go home.

Explanations have been canceled nine straight days because of Communist demands to interview prisoners called up but not interviewed Nov. 5.

Armin Daeniker, Swiss member of the commission, said Saturday the future of the explanation program doesn't "look very good."

The agenda for the preliminary political talks closely parallels a plan proposed first by envoy Dean Oct. 31. At that time Red negotiators called it "sleight of hand" and "absolutely unacceptable."

Dean said after Saturday's meeting that he always has been optimistic about chances for a Korean peace conference "and I am even more optimistic now."

Dean and the Communist negotiators will meet again Monday to iron out working plans for subcommittee discussions.

The top U. N. negotiator said he probably would sit on one of the subcommittees himself.

Open in a new location, Monday, November 16, Jack & Jill Shoppe, Lincoln Square.

KIDNAPPER'S CAR IS FOUND IN MANHATTAN

NEW YORK (AP) — The car in which an ex-convict abducted a 13-year-old girl after terrorizing her family in a pre-dawn robbery yesterday was found early today on a Manhattan street.

Police searched for Anthony James Palazzola, 26, identified from photos by the girl, Dorothea del Longo, as the man who kidnapped her, held her captive in a hotel room several hours, then let her out of his car on a Queens street.

First police reports said the girl was not harmed. Later, authorities said she had been assaulted. Dorothea originally said she had not been molested. When taken away she was attired in blue pajamas under a topcoat.

A man entered the apartment of James Botticelli, the girl's stepfather, at 4 a.m. (EST) yesterday, punched Botticelli in the face, demanded money and liquor and stayed on for an hour before leaving with the girl, $100 in cash, a portable radio and a tape recorder machine.

Releases Girl

Dorothea said the man took her to a hotel on East 70th Street and then drove aimlessly around Manhattan and Long Island.

He talked and boasted a great deal, she said, but became alarmed after listening to radio accounts of the police search for him.

He gave her $5 taxi fare, handed her the portable radio and recording machine, and let her out of the car in Woodside, Queens, across the East River from her home. A telephone operator on her way to work noticed the girl and took her to police.

Last night the night clerk at the hotel where the child was held was arrested on charges of impairing the morals of a minor.

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Two three-truck pileups injured four persons and wrecked all six vehicles while highway visibility was reduced to near zero by a heavy ground fog which covered many portions of Pennsylvania and Ohio yesterday.

James Leshar, 46, of Philadelphia, was reported in serious condition at Pottstown Hospital from injuries suffered in a wreck near Douglassville, Berks County.

Another three-way collision on Rt. 22 near Shartlesville in Berks County sent 38-year old Joseph Elias of Jeannette, Pa., to Reading Hospital with back injuries. One truck caught fire but the driver escaped injury.

NIXON TOURS KOREAN FIELD

WITH NIXON, Korea (AP) — Vice President Nixon today made a swift tour of Korea—from Allied Truce Headquarters at Munsan to a forward bunker manned by war-torn veterans.

Nixon flew to within 1,000 yards of the southern border of the demilitarized zone. He saw the vast destruction in the iron triangle area of the central front.

He talked with South Korean soldiers who weathered more than three years of war that raged up and down this wrecked peninsula.

Nixon wore a steel helmet as he inspected defense positions. His attractive wife flew with South Korean President Syngman Rhee and Mrs. Rhee to a Central Front air strip 10 or 12 miles from the nearest Chinese position, and joined her husband for a swift and polished parade by about 6,000 troops from 15 nations who joined in the U. N. Korean War effort.

Nixon told the soldiers they had fought in Korea to uphold the principle that "any nation, no matter how small, has a right to be free, independent and united. If the war in Korea had not been fought that principle would have been destroyed forever."

Father Sues School Board Over Girl's Dance Lessons

NORRISTOWN, Pa. (AP)—A father who says he already spent $10,000 on the career of his 11-year-old ballerina daughter is suing to get her excused from school one afternoon a week for dancing lessons.

George Rapine, noted father of dancing Betty Anne, instructed his attorney, Leonard F. Markel, Thursday to sue the school board of near-by Conshohocken.

The board recently ruled that pretty, blue-eyed Betty Anne could no longer be absent from her fifth grade classes at public school to attend dancing lessons in New York Wednesday afternoons.

No Ordinary Child
The youthful ballerina is no ordinary child, her father said. She has appeared on the New York stage and at the Steel Pier in Atlantic City. He said the only time open for her on the New York

REP. WALTER DEMANDS FACTS ON WHITE CASE FROM EVERYBODY

By ED CREAUGH and WARREN ROGERS JR.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The top Democrat on the House Un-American Activities Committee has demanded that J. Edgar Hoover, FBI chief, tell all he knows about the Harry Dexter White case.

"Everybody who had any contact with it ought to tell everything he or she knows," said Rep. Walter of Pennsylvania in calling for Hoover's appearance before the Senate internal security subcommittee.

Walter, in a recorded CBS radio interview last night, said that so far as he knows Atty. Gen. Brownell is the only person close to the case to call White a Communist spy. Brownell touched off the far-reaching uproar in a speech at Chicago Nov. 6, when he said former President Truman gave White a better government job in 1946 despite FBI reports that White was a Communist spy.

Wanted Full Airing
"He must have made that statement on the basis of information we've never had," Walter said. "We and the American people are entitled to have that information."

Walter said the House Un-American Activities Committee, of which he is the ranking Democrat, should bow out of the White inquiry. But he said there should be a full airing, presumably by the Senate internal security subcommittee, with Hoover, Brownell, Truman and others invited to appear.

Challenged By Jenner

Walter said he had been reliably informed that Truman, Hoover, then Secretary of the Treasury Vinson and then Atty. Gen. Clark decided in 1946 to promote White "and then keep him under surveillance."

But Sen. Jenner (R-Ind.), chairman of the Senate internal security subcommittee, quickly issued a statement challenging this. Jenner said Hoover is "too security conscious" to make any agreement permitting subversives to remain in government service.

The senator declared he would ask Brownell about this point at a closed session of his committee Tuesday. Brownell, who also has accepted an invitation to appear before the House group, is understood to be reading a "comprehensive statement" for the Jenner committee's executive session at 2 p.m. (EST) Tuesday.

To Be On TV

The chairman said last night a public session a half-hour later will be radio-broadcast and televised.

Jenner disclosed today he has renewed his efforts to question Igor Gouzenko, the Russian code clerk who walked out of the Soviet Embassy at Ottawa in 1945 with voluminous documents exposing the Canadian spy ring.

Jenner emphasized to newsmen that his subcommittee is not concentrating on White, but is looking into the case of Alger Hiss and others named in a 1945 FBI report on subversion in government.

COED KILLED IN TRUCK CRASH

WINDSOR, Vt. (AP)—A Syracuse university coed was killed and three other college students were injured—one critically—last night when their car collided with a truck filled with Christmas trees on Rt. 5.

dancing instructor's schedule is Wednesday afternoon. This is her third year of dancing instruction.

Her father, a rigging contractor, said Betty Anne attended the Miqun School, a private institution near her home the first year. Last year she transferred to the Conshohocken public school.

Holidays Used Up
Since Rapine had already paid her dance tuition, Dr. Robert C. Landis, Montgomery County superintendent of schools, decided she could cut classes Friday afternoon—her dance schedule at that time.

School officials said this year is another matter. Betty Anne has used up the six half holidays permitted under the school code and the board solicitor, Stanley B. Cooper, said the board has no right to grant further absences.

PHILLY GOP OUST LEADER

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The Republican City Committee Friday ousted its chairman, William J. Hamilton Jr., and elected in his place Robert C. Duffy, a newcomer to GOP politics who was elected registrar of wills in the recent municipal elections.

The action took place at a smoothly conducted 20-minute meeting of 46 of the city's 52 GOP ward leaders at the party headquarters. Hamilton was not present, contending the specially called meeting was "illegal."

Back of the move to oust Hamilton was former Sheriff Austin Meehan and former City Chairman William F. Meade who recently completed an informal agreement to oust Hamilton and replace him with a candidate of their own.

Unanimous Election
The motion to oust Hamilton was unanimous and Duffy's election was unanimous.

Meade handed reporters copies of Duffy's background before the meeting started and said Duffy's election met with the approval of Gov. John S. Fine, who had been supporting Hamilton in his fight with Meade and Meehan.

Meade said he conferred with the governor late last night. He said a list of possible choices for the chairmanship were shown to the governor and quoted the governor as saying Duffy would make a good choice.

Meade said Fine told him "I will personally accept the will of the majority of the members of the committee. I am reluctant to see Hamilton go because he is a friend but I will abide by the majority rule of the committee."

The Bible says the towns of Sodom and Gomorrah, on the shores of the Dead Sea, were destroyed by brimstone and fire; but although beds of volcanic slag have been found on the south shore, no ruins of cities have been found among them.

"I PRAY TO GOD"

By Ben Burroughs

I beg You God to take my hand . . . and lead me to the right . . . so I can walk with confidence . . . however dark the night . . . with reverence I appeal to You . . . to fill my heart with love . . . so some day I may journey in . . . Your promised land above . . . I will remain secure . . . let my eyes see the decent things . . . make my hands hold the good . . . and let me live in friendliness . . . and foster brotherhood . . . upon my lips trust and truth . . . good will for everyone . . . so when the dreary hours come . . . I'll always find the sun . . . this is my prayer to You my God . . . please listen to my plea . . . so I'll be ready when You call . . . and You will welcome me.

Secretary Of Army Says No Spying Now At Ft. Monmouth

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Army does not agree with Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) that there is evidence its radar laboratory at Ft. Monmouth, N. J., has been the recent scene of Communist spy activities. Secretary of the Army Robert T. Stevens told a news conference yesterday there were no suspected spies among the 33 workers suspended on loyalty charges at the Signal Corps center.

Stevens also said that so far as he could determine no secrets passed from the radar laboratory to Iron Curtain nations in recent years.

Spying During War
The secretary declared he did think espionage had occurred during World War II at the installation—at the time Julius Rosenberg, executed as an atomic spy last summer, visited it.

McCarthy said last month, as he was developing an investigation of Ft. Monmouth security, that "it appears at this point to be a matter of current espionage."

He said evidence being gathered by the Senate investigation sub-

NEW DEVICE MAY SAVE LIVES

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The lives of some patients dying from heart failure may be saved by a new development—mechanical kidneys. Dr. Lewis W. Blumie Jr., a University of Pennsylvania physician, told a meeting of the American Philosophical Society yesterday that man-made kidneys, used temporarily, apparently rid the body of excess fluid.

Fluid wells up in the chest in certain types of heart disease, he said, causing the victim to drown internally. Dr. Blumie said the patient in danger of dying responded when the auxiliary kidney was connected to the blood stream.

The artificial kidney carried on the functions of the human organ for six hours and removed one and a half quarts of fluid. The doctor said the patient's breathing was improved and his respiration had returned to normal.

Today's Talk

GOD'S HOUSE

I look upon all churches as God's house, no matter what the sect or creed of those who worship there. There can never be too many churches in a community, if they are never allowed to neglect people. The great opportunity of churches lies in their privilege to serve.

It is always inspiring—and inviting—to see the doors of a church always unlocked and offering a welcome to anyone who may wish to retire for a few minutes for prayer and relaxation, and a renewal of spirit.

We are one of God's callers when we go into any church. Just to sit or kneel in silence there, in communion with God, rebuilds us in faith, and arms us anew with courage, patience, and humility. We re-enter our day with a loftier purpose and with the idea of service to others more prominently fixed in our mind.

On my way to work I noted a great battleship anchored in the river. You do a great deal of thinking when you look upon one of these giants of terror. Many a nation has become impoverished and defeated in spirit because of its dependence upon war, which never settles anything, but which eats at the soul of a nation.

The church—God's house—does the opposite. It keeps building character and has often served as a refuge when nothing else could satisfy. In approaching a city whose church steeples stir something within us, assuring us a friendly sojourn if we choose to stay for a spell. I like to see the doors of a church wide open in good weather and softly flooded with light within.

Henry Ward Beecher once said that a church could not be too beautiful. I agree, but every church should reach out a helping hand to everyone, regardless of any consideration. The poor should be as welcomed as the rich. God is the Father over all. He doesn't care at all about the arithmetic of our lives. He just wants to know the language we use in the heart!

GARDEN FAITH

He planted marigold in spring
And tulips in the fall;
His work of faith was gardening.
Although his grounds were small.

"I've neither much nor many here,"
Said he, "for great display,
But this I do from year to year
To keep despair away."

"This simple lesson I have learned
From bulbs and roots and seeds:
The Lord is not with size concerned,
As much as with our deeds."

"Although I've but a garden small,
My gift to God I bring
By planting tulips in the fall
And marigold in spring."

Expect Clark Also Will Not Obey Subpoena; Truman Says "No;" Vaughan Can't Recall

By ED CREAUGH

and WARREN ROGERS JR.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Harry Truman won't testify. Harry Vaughan says he can't remember. So congressional probes of the Harry Dexter White case looked to a third controversial figure of the Truman administration this Friday the 13th.

Supreme Court Justice Tom C. Clark was subpoenaed for appearance before the House Un-American Activities Committee. The odds were overwhelming, though, that he would take former President Truman's tack and send or bring a statement rejecting the summons.

Polite But Firm
Truman told the committee politely but firmly Thursday he could not obey its order to testify on Atty. Gen. Brownell's charges that he promoted White in 1946 despite FBI reports that he was a spy.

To honor the subpoena, Truman asserted, would go against the constitutional separation of government branches and make the presidency "a mere arm of the legislative branch."

A Democratic source in touch with Clark—who was attorney general in 1946—said the justice has decided to refuse testimony on the ground a committee of Congress has no power to subpoena a member of the federal judiciary.

IST May Go On Air
This source, who didn't want to be named, said also that Truman is giving thought to going on radio and television to tell his side of the White controversy and answer GOP charges of White House laxity in checking the loyalty of officials.

James F. Byrnes, once Truman's secretary of state and now his bitter political foe, declined to leave his post as governor of South Carolina to answer a committee subpoena. Chairman Velde (R-Ind.) accepted Byrnes' suggestion to send investigators to him, but set no date.

That left the committee—arguing among itself and reported to be under heavy pressure from the White House and the Republican National Committee—with a mighty tenuous schedule of witnesses and hearings.

Brownell Accepts
Brownell was one witness. Velde and other Republican committee members gave in to their Democratic colleagues' demands Thursday and, by unanimous committee vote, invited—rather than ordered—the attorney general to testify. Brownell accepted, but again no date was set.

Another witness was Jerome Blumauer, who was foreman of a federal grand jury in New York which considered the White case in 1947 but did not hand down an indictment. Velde announced Thursday that Blumauer would testify Friday, but that night Blumauer's appearance was postponed indefinitely.

A committee source, declining use of his name, said it might be six weeks before the committee got around to Blumauer. This source noted that the committee is "extremely busy," what with subcommittee inquiries scheduled in San Francisco and Philadelphia.

More Questions For Vaughan
It seemed extremely doubtful that Brownell would testify earlier than the end of next week. The Philadelphia probe, into Reds-in-education, is expected to keep a subcommittee busy on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

Velde said he has some further questions to ask Vaughan, who was military aide to Truman, in the wake of the retired major general's testimony Thursday before the Senate internal security subcommittee.

Vaughan, squinting in the glare of television and newsreel lights, told the senators he couldn't recall seeing any FBI reports on White. But he added that if Brownell said they were sent to him to be brought to the President's attention "I would not question it for a moment."

Just What He Did Say
That was exactly what Brownell did say in the Chicago speech which set off the whole uproar a week ago Friday.

The effervescent Vaughan, who figured in investigations of influence peddling late in the Truman administration, testified soon after another onetime Democratic official, Lt. Lamar Caudie, added some details to the charges and countercharges.

Caudie, fired by Truman as an assistant attorney general for "outside activities," testified that in early 1946 he called Clark's attention to an FBI report indicating White was a Communist underground agent.

Caudie said he told Clark "if the facts were true, I hoped he would do what he could to discourage the appointment of White" as U.S. director for the International Monetary Fund.

Mixup On Dates
Caudie said he gave this report to Clark by phone while the then attorney general "was over, I think, in Johns Hopkins Hospital getting a physical checkup."

But Robert Morris, committee counsel, said records of the Baltimore hospital show Clark was a patient there between Feb. 15 and Feb. 26, 1946—and White's nomination already had been confirmed by the Senate on Feb. 6 of that year.

Jenner's Convinced
Caudie shook his head and said in his soft North Carolina accent that he couldn't explain the discrepancy. "It was eight years ago, Mr. Morris . . . It is just in my mind."

Chairman Jenner (R-Ind.) said he'd heard enough from Caudie, Vaughan, Brownell and Byrnes to convince him that Truman received FBI reports linking White to a Soviet espionage ring in 1946. Jenner declared:

"As an individual, I see no reason for calling Harry Truman before this committee, because the record speaks for itself."

The amount of goods and services turned out by the average American worker increase about two per cent a year from 1870 to 1950.

JAIL BROKER IN SWINDLE

NEWARK, N. J. (AP)—Walter B. Pierce, Philadelphia stock broker described as having an impeccable reputation, was held in Hudson County jail today on charges of attempting an $87,000 swindle.

Federal Judge Richard Hartshorne ordered Pierce held Thursday in lieu of $25,000 bail.

Pierce, 44, is accused of transporting stolen securities in interstate commerce. He was a stockbroker for Francis I. DuPont Co. According to U. S. Atty. I. Edward Amada, Pierce worked the purported swindle this way:

He sold stocks which belonged to Norman and Nancy Vagner of Philadelphia for $87,000 last August. He had certified checks delivered to him at the first National Bank in Jersey City.

Later, he had the checks converted into a letter of credit through the National City Bank in New York. Pierce went to Mexico, where he converted the letter of credit into pesos.

But last month he was extradited to Laredo, Tex., and arrested. His wife, meanwhile, told the Vagners that Pierce was on a fishing trip. She got a passport and placed their home up for sale.

Amada says it was Pierce's plan to join his wife and settle in Majorca, a Mediterranean island off the coast of Spain.

The FBI says Pierce has refused to make a statement.

Engine Stalling Is A Problem With Automatic Transmission; Must Find Its Primary Cause

BY FREDERICK C. RUSSELL

Probably the reason some drivers never learn how to avoid stalling is because they let it slide.

Old Problem Again Stalling again?

It is getting to be quite a nuisance. Before automatic transmissions we could set the idling a little on the fast side if the engine didn't run at its best and get around the problem that way. But today fast idling causes creeping, so we are faced with the need for getting to the primary causes of stalling which may be a too lean mixture, faulty choke action, trouble with the fuel pump, leaks in the fuel system, including an air leak in the short flexible line between the main fuel line and the fuel pump. Failure to keep the fuel system clean can also cause stalling, not to mention vapor lock from too volatile gas, a tendency toward overheating, or both.

At all temperatures up to 50 above zero, and especially in damp weather, stalling during the warm-up period may be due to icing in the carburetor at the throttle valve. There is a sort of refrigeration action there. Best remedy is to let the engine fast idle in the driveway before starting out.

For Future Reference

Are you trying to free up one of those pesky manifold heat control valves? If so, remember to try tapping the end of its shaft with a hammer, applying plenty of penetrating oil as you work at it. Still better results can be had by giving the shaft a treatment of penetrating oil the night before. But it is often this tapping that really does the trick.

Late timing slows down starting, and because sluggish firing allows the engine to gum up with unburned gasoline the situation becomes progressively worse.

Unlike conventional starter drive pinion the over-running clutch type should not be cleaned in a degreasing agent because it is packed in grease.

Aluminum cylinder head nuts and studs come off easier with a few drops of iodine around them.

One For The Book

Ever hear of an engine running too cool after a flushing of the cooling system?

When this happened to one of my readers a smart mechanic checked the motor thermostat's by-pass and found some dislodged scale caught in it. The valve was just forced to open too soon.

Mechanic Joe Speaking:

"I don't know why it is that so many car owners go along wondering if lack of pick up is due to a sluggish acceleration pump in the carburetor. It is so easy to test this."

"All you have to do is take off the air cleaner and while looking into the carburetor air intake with a flashlight work the throttle as would be the case if you stepped on the gas. You should do this after the engine has warmed up enough to open the choke valve."

For Safety's Sake

Those bald front tires may aggravate skidding by causing the car to wander. This puts more of a load on the rear tires because the car loses stability which the front tires can help give it. Also there is the very real danger of the car going into a steering skid. This is the variety where the driver goes into a turn and can't make it because while the front wheels can be cut for the turn the tires do not get traction and the car goes straight ahead.

Just Being Old

There are many reasons why a clutch will become troublesome when the car is on the open road but one that escapes suspicion is binding of the hub. Tip-off to this is difficulty shifting into low gear when the car has driven far enough for the engine to heat up the clutch. A peculiarity is that the car usually can be shifted directly into second and then back to low without any trouble at all.

This sort of thing often causes the gears to mesh within a "clunking" effect. There isn't quite enough dragging to cause clashing. Here again the situation will be revealed by no trouble at all shifting to second.

Three To Remember

There are plenty of reasons for a car's habit of darting and diving all over the road, but one that may be overlooked is an eccentric wheel. It can be straightened.

When an engine is mysteriously slow warming up they may find a cracked intake manifold. This allows air to suck in and lean out the mixture. Everything is fairly normal when the manifold heats up and expands.

Tests have shown quite a high percentage of starting trouble due to loose connections at the solenoid of the starting circuit.

We'd Go For This

I don't blame the sidewalk engineers for taking a look. I, too, was quite interested in the Detroit car parked at an Eastern resort. Behind the front seat was a built-in tourists' library the like of which I have never seen. Topped by a clock it carried compartments for tour books, compass, first-aid kit, maps and other touring items including an elapsed time clock to let the owner know exactly how long it took to travel from one point of his itinerary to another. The whole layout was attractive to the eye as well as to the intelligence.

No Place For Brakes

In more cases than many drivers suspect the safest course in an emergency is to slow down rather than speed up and rely on skillful steering to provide the solution, but there are times when the brakes are not the answer. One of these is when a tire blows out. Another is when a driver finds himself in a curve and going too fast. In this latter situation a race driver would speed up to the theory that he can thus beat the action of centrifugal force which wants to swing his car off the road. Braking is also rough on springs when the car is hitting into rough spots.

Between the lines there's the clear implication that the best place to use brakes is before the point of hazard.

What's Your Trouble?

Q. There are loud reports from the exhaust when I am driving my car downhill with the throttle closed. Have checked for sticky valves. Also checked the carburetor mixture. The engine is sputtering a lot of oil. K. L. N.

A. Probably the spark plugs are fouled. If one or two miss when the throttle is closed some unburned gas vapor will get into the exhaust system and be fired there by hot exhaust gases which follow.

Q. Every now and again the engine of my car acts like it had torn loose. It shakes violently when I declutch to change gears or stop. W. N. K.

A. A stuck valve will cause this. Q. Since the lights went out the other night I have not been able to get them going again. Can't find any loose connections or shorts. This car has a circuit breaker, not a fuse. R. L.

A. Trouble may be the circuit breaker itself. Run a jumper wire between the connections to the circuit breaker. If the lights come on again you will know that the circuit breaker needs replacing.

Q. How can I adjust the dash pot on the carburetor of my car. I understand this slows down throttle closing so that the engine isn't so likely to stall with an automatic transmission. The engine is inclined to idle too fast. J. L. B.

A. Before you even consider the dash pot check the throttle linkage and accelerator pedal itself. There probably is binding here.

Q. I have been reading instructions for adjusting the high beam of the headlights, but do not see anything regarding how to adjust the low beam. Can you help me?

N. D.

A. Once the high beam is properly adjusted the low beam is automatically adjusted.

Q. I am having trouble locking the right front door with the key. No trouble locking from the inside. I have checked the key to make sure it isn't bent. In fact, I used a spare key but without success. R. T. H.

A. The trouble here probably is the door handle or the latch, not in the lock itself. I would have your service man check over the door handle and the remote control assembly inside the door itself.

Q. There is a thumping action in the rear of my car which is getting to be quite a headache. All tires have been balanced. In fact, have switched the tires around, but always the thumping goes back to that rear location. Springs and shock absorbers have been carefully checked. G. G. H.

A. You will find that one or the other of the rear wheels is eccentric. It should be straightened or replaced.

Mr. Russell will answer questions regarding the safe care and operation of your car. Just address him at 254 Fern St., West Hartford, 7, Conn., and enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope for a personal reply. There is no charge.

SOLDIER FACES MURDER COUNT

ELKTON, Md. (AP)—Arthur Biddle Jr., 19-year-old soldier recently returned from Korea, was held on a murder charge today after a shooting in which his uncle was killed and his aunt wounded.

Police said Gilbert M. Cavendar, 45, was killed and his 44-year-old wife, Mary, was wounded Thursday with a .16 gauge shotgun at their home where Biddle had been visiting on leave.

Officers said it was believed the shooting resulted from an argument over property. Biddle was jailed without bond.

Police said Biddle was reared in the house where the shooting occurred. It previously had been owned by his grandmother, Mrs. Anna Clay. After her death, Biddle and his parents moved out of the house and the Cavendars moved in.

The Cavendars had three children, Louis Clay Cavendar, stationed at Keesler Air Force Base, Miss.; Gilbert, 16, a student at Elkton High School, and Patricia, 10, an elementary school pupil here.

Biddle returned from service in Korea about two months ago and was on leave from Ft. Dix, N. J.

Although incestuous unions are not censured in early Germanic legal codes, the children of unions between people of different social rank were classed as bastards.

Engine Stalling Is A Problem With Automatic Transmission; Must Find Its Primary Cause

BY FREDERICK C. RUSSELL

Probably the reason some drivers never learn how to avoid stalling is because they let it slide.

Old Problem Again Stalling again?

It is getting to be quite a nuisance. Before automatic transmissions we could set the idling a little on the fast side if the engine didn't run at its best and get around the problem that way. But today fast idling causes creeping, so we are faced with the need for getting to the primary causes of stalling which may be a too lean mixture, faulty choke action, trouble with the fuel pump, leaks in the fuel system, including an air leak in the short flexible line between the main fuel line and the fuel pump. Failure to keep the fuel system clean can also cause stalling, not to mention vapor lock from too volatile gas, a tendency toward overheating, or both.

At all temperatures up to 50 above zero, and especially in damp weather, stalling during the warm-up period may be due to icing in the carburetor at the throttle valve. There is a sort of refrigeration action there. Best remedy is to let the engine fast idle in the driveway before starting out.

For Future Reference

Are you trying to free up one of those pesky manifold heat control valves? If so, remember to try tapping the end of its shaft with a hammer, applying plenty of penetrating oil as you work at it. Still better results can be had by giving the shaft a treatment of penetrating oil the night before. But it is often this tapping that really does the trick.

Late timing slows down starting, and because sluggish firing allows the engine to gum up with unburned gasoline the situation becomes progressively worse.

Unlike conventional starter drive pinion the over-running clutch type should not be cleaned in a degreasing agent because it is packed in grease.

Aluminum cylinder head nuts and studs come off easier with a few drops of iodine around them.

One For The Book

Ever hear of an engine running too cool after a flushing of the cooling system?

When this happened to one of my readers a smart mechanic checked the motor thermostat's by-pass and found some dislodged scale caught in it. The valve was just forced to open too soon.

Mechanic Joe Speaking:

"I don't know why it is that so many car owners go along wondering if lack of pick up is due to a sluggish acceleration pump in the carburetor. It is so easy to test this."

"All you have to do is take off the air cleaner and while looking into the carburetor air intake with a flashlight work the throttle as would be the case if you stepped on the gas. You should do this after the engine has warmed up enough to open the choke valve."

For Safety's Sake

Those bald front tires may aggravate skidding by causing the car to wander. This puts more of a load on the rear tires because the car loses stability which the front tires can help give it. Also there is the very real danger of the car going into a steering skid. This is the variety where the driver goes into a turn and can't make it because while the front wheels can be cut for the turn the tires do not get traction and the car goes straight ahead.

Just Being Old

There are many reasons why a clutch will become troublesome when the car is on the open road but one that escapes suspicion is binding of the hub. Tip-off to this is difficulty shifting into low gear when the car has driven far enough for the engine to heat up the clutch. A peculiarity is that the car usually can be shifted directly into second and then back to low without any trouble at all.

This sort of thing often causes the gears to mesh within a "clunking" effect. There isn't quite enough dragging to cause clashing. Here again the situation will be revealed by no trouble at all shifting to second.

Three To Remember

There are plenty of reasons for a car's habit of darting and diving all over the road, but one that may be overlooked is an eccentric wheel. It can be straightened.

When an engine is mysteriously slow warming up they may find a cracked intake manifold. This allows air to suck in and lean out the mixture. Everything is fairly normal when the manifold heats up and expands.

Tests have shown quite a high percentage of starting trouble due to loose connections at the solenoid of the starting circuit.

We'd Go For This

I don't blame the sidewalk engineers for taking a look. I, too, was quite interested in the Detroit car parked at an Eastern resort. Behind the front seat was a built-in tourists' library the like of which I have never seen. Topped by a clock it carried compartments for tour books, compass, first-aid kit, maps and other touring items including an elapsed time clock to let the owner know exactly how long it took to travel from one point of his itinerary to another. The whole layout was attractive to the eye as well as to the intelligence.

No Place For Brakes

In more cases than many drivers suspect the safest course in an emergency is to slow down rather than speed up and rely on skillful steering to provide the solution, but there are times when the brakes are not the answer. One of these is when a tire blows out. Another is when a driver finds himself in a curve and going too fast. In this latter situation a race driver would speed up to the theory that he can thus beat the action of centrifugal force which wants to swing his car off the road. Braking is also rough on springs when the car is hitting into rough spots.

Between the lines there's the clear implication that the best place to use brakes is before the point of hazard.

What's Your Trouble?

Q. There are loud reports from the exhaust when I am driving my car downhill with the throttle closed. Have checked for sticky valves. Also checked the carburetor mixture. The engine is sputtering a lot of oil. K. L. N.

A. Probably the spark plugs are fouled. If one or two miss when the throttle is closed some unburned gas vapor will get into the exhaust system and be fired there by hot exhaust gases which follow.

Q. Every now and again the engine of my car acts like it had torn loose. It shakes violently when I declutch to change gears or stop. W. N. K.

A. A stuck valve will cause this. Q. Since the lights went out the other night I have not been able to get them going again. Can't find any loose connections or shorts. This car has a circuit breaker, not a fuse. R. L.

A. Trouble may be the circuit breaker itself. Run a jumper wire between the connections to the circuit breaker. If the lights come on again you will know that the circuit breaker needs replacing.

Q. How can I adjust the dash pot on the carburetor of my car. I understand this slows down throttle closing so that the engine isn't so likely to stall with an automatic transmission. The engine is inclined to idle too fast. J. L. B.

A. Before you even consider the dash pot check the throttle linkage and accelerator pedal itself. There probably is binding here.

Q. I have been reading instructions for adjusting the high beam of the headlights, but do not see anything regarding how to adjust the low beam. Can you help me?

N. D.

A. Once the high beam is properly adjusted the low beam is automatically adjusted.

Q. I am having trouble locking the right front door with the key. No trouble locking from the inside. I have checked the key to make sure it isn't bent. In fact, I used a spare key but without success. R. T. H.

A. The trouble here probably is the door handle or the latch, not in the lock itself. I would have your service man check over the door handle and the remote control assembly inside the door itself.

Q. There is a thumping action in the rear of my car which is getting to be quite a headache. All tires have been balanced. In fact, have switched the tires around, but always the thumping goes back to that rear location. Springs and shock absorbers have been carefully checked. G. G. H.

A. You will find that one or the other of the rear wheels is eccentric. It should be straightened or replaced.

In Memoriam 3
In loving memory of our beloved husband and father, Floyd C. Sanders, who departed this life one year ago today, November 14, 1952.

On the hillside softly sleeping
Far away from care and pain
May he rest in Jesus' keeping
For we hope to meet again.

We often sit and think of him when we are alone
For memory is the only friend
Grief can call its own
Like ivy on the withered oak when other things decay.

Our love for him will still keep green and never fade away
Though the grief of your passing never will heal
Memories are treasures that nothing can steal.

Some may forget him now that he is gone
But we'll remember no matter how long.

Sadly missed by his wife and daughters.

CONFERENCE ON KOREAN PEACE TO BE RESUMED

By JOHN RANDOLPH
PANMUNJOM (P) — Top U. S. and Red negotiators return today to discuss plans for a Korean peace conference after a week's recess while staff advisers worked in secret on an agenda.

The advisers ended a series of six secret meetings Friday but refused to give any information on the results. However, they apparently reached some sort of agreement since the top delegates were called back.

Meanwhile, Gen. John E. Hull, U. N. Far East commander, said in Korea he would "absolutely" press for the release of all remaining anti-Red Korean and Chinese war prisoners on Jan. 22 if the already late conference hasn't begun by then.

By this, Hull meant the U. N. would object to any Red claim that any prisoners be held longer for any reason.

To Release POW's
The truce agreement specifies that all unrepatriated POWs be released as civilians one month after the end of efforts to woo them home if the political confer-

Texans To Substitute Courtesy For Curtsy

HOUSTON, Tex. (P) — Mayor Roy Hofheinz asked Houstonians to substitute courtesy for curtsy next Wednesday when greeting King Paul and Queen Frederika of Greece.

"Good taste and proper recognition of democratic standards dictate that there be no curtsies," the mayor said.

What is the proper salute? Hofheinz recommends: "How do you do?" "Welcome to Texas." "Howdy, pardner."

ence has not settled their fate. The Red interview program, now at a standstill, is due to end Dec. 23 by U. N. interpretation. The peace conference, originally scheduled to start by Oct. 28, has been stymied by the deadlock over an agenda for planning the talks.

The explanations hung in stalemate Thursday for the eighth straight day and no interviews were scheduled for Friday.

The Communists gave no sign of accepting an Indian plan for speeding up the interviews, insisting again on talking with 356 Chinese POWs not interviewed when one 492-man compound was called up Nov. 5.

The Reds have refused since then to call any other group and the 356 POWs have refused to come.

Baby Sitter Saves 4 Lives; Fights Fire

TAMPA, Idaho (P) — Firemen credited a 17-year-old baby sitter yesterday with saving the lives of four youngsters and fighting a single-handed battle to keep their home from burning down.

The baby sitter, Shirley Lenz, rushed the children to the safety of a nearby car when fire broke out in a kitchen wall late Thursday night. Then she fought the flames with a container of water until firemen arrived.

Modern brass is an alloy mostly of copper and zinc, although in early times it referred to the alloy of copper and tin which we call bronze.
